PROMISE NO RELIEF FROM HEAT WAVE

Chief Forecaster Frankenfield Says Wave Has Only Begun

EXPLAIN PHENOMENON

Bermuda High is the Official Cause of Heat—Decline to State It is Very Extreme

STATE HOT SPELL LITTLE LATE

WASHINGTON, July 27.—A Bermuda high is the official cause of the worst heat wave that has enveloped the country in fifteen years. Translated from the cryptic language of the weather office that means a great area of high pressure air has formed on the weather drill grounds in the Atlantic off Bermuda for the last month and is resisting all efforts of interior air current from the Rocky Mountains to the seaboard to penetrate it.

For weeks it has stood like a solid wall against heated currents trying vainly to move out from the interior over the ocean and now as it swirls rapidly along it is gathering heat and moisture from the tropic and sweeping them northward over the continent into the vacuum of so-called "low pressure areas." Altho its greatest intensity has not yet revolved upon the Pacific Coast it is expected to do so within the next few days.

No relief is promised from the phenomenon which in the east has caused sweltering city dwellers to light fires in their homes to dry out the humidity or which in the Mississippi Valley is threatening to destroy millions of dollars worth of food crops. Chief Forecaster Frenkenfield said today that the heat wave only had begun . It is certain to continue thru the week and probably longer . None of the conditions essential to a break up are yet evident. The relief which often comes from the northwest is nowhere in sight.

During all this mornth Forecaster Frankenfield says the huge body of high pressure atmosphere has been gathering over the western Atlantic from Florida to New Foundland and east to the Azores. It is very heavy in weight and thick in dimensions. Heavy air always flows to a place occupied by light air but unfortunately, there is at present an area of light air in the tropic. When the heavy air arrives there it finds there is still lighter air over the continent. So it moves north in an enormous sweep burning hot from the tropics and heavy laden with sea borne humidity. It is distributing this heat and humidity over all the continental United States in what officials call the "Bermuda High."

The air in the middle west is becoming much heavier and it may form a local center where the air currents will clash in a series of thunderstorms affording speedy relief thru a readjustment of the areas of high pressure.

The weather sharps, however, taking observations from their breeze-swept areas officially decline to state that it is very extreme. The limit of their comment is that the hot spell is "unusual in that it is a little late."

Air Seems to Ooze Moisture.

New York, July 27.—A combination of heat and excessive humidity enveloped New York today. Only once, in July 1896, was the humidity higher than the record reached today—88. The air, even when the sun was shining fiercely, seemed fairly to ooze moisture. It took the starch out of linen, the shape out of straw hats, and the energy of everybody. The theremometer and hydrometer moved upward together the former registering 85.

Householders complain of mildew and many have built furnace fires to dry their homes. Merchants and manufacturers dealing in commodities affected by dampness report damage to their goods.

The weather forecaster predicts that the hot wave in the west will reach here tomorrow. It will be hotter than it was today, but the humidity may be less.

No Relief for Illinois.

CHICAGO, July 27.—The North Plains states including Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota will enjoy slight relief from the present hot wave by Saturday but there is no indication of any relief for Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin or Kansas, the forecaster at the local government weather bureau said tonight.

The hot spell which fell upon the middle-west on the first of July due to the simultaneous existence of extreme high pressure in the southeastern part of the country and low pressure in the northwest was more severe today than at any time since its inception.

Every government weather bureau in Indiana reported 100 degrees, Pierre, S. D., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Davenport, Iowa, each reported 102 degrees and with the absence of appreciable lake breezes the mercury in Chicago rose to the 100 mark and broke all records since 1911. At 7 o'clock tonight according to the local bureau every government weather station between the Alleghenies and the Rocky Mountains reported a maximum of 90 degrees or more.

The absence of hot winds and the comparatively low humidity however tended to make the excessive temperature less unbearable and to save crops from serious damage thus far.

In only three other years—1887, 1901 and 1911—has Chicago experienced hundred degree weather. Three deaths here were attributed directly to the heat, more than a score of other persons were prostrated and the suffering in babydome increases.

In view of statistics showing that the present heat wave is killing infants, 104 per cent faster than did excessive heat during July of last year, Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner here tonight issued an order prohibiting the sale of unpasteurized milk until further notice.

To relieve the torrid conditions in the middle west the local forecaster said, a high presure must appear in the northwestern states.

A "high" has appeared just off the Pacific coast nearly every day since the beginning of the present spell, he said, but it has never gotten farther than the coast .

At midnight police and hospital records indicated that fourteen persons had died in Chicago during the day either directly from the excessive heat or from causes largely induced by the heat. Forty two prostrations had been reported at that hour.

ATTEMPS TO GAIN ENTRANCE TO HOUSE: SHOT AND DIES OF WOUNDS

Salisbury, Mo., Man Becomes Angry When Wife Does not Return home From Hannibal Where She Was Nursing Sick Woman.

Quincy, Ill., July 27.—Edward Doke of Salisbury, Mo., died this morning in a hospital at Hannibal, Mo., from a gunshot wound inflicted by Russell Jones, a farmer living on Bay Island, ten miles south of Quincy. Doke was shot after he had attempted to gain entrance to Jones' home where his wife had been nursing for the last two weeks.

Before dying Doke is said to have told an officer that it was his own fault and that he "guessed he had been drinking and talking too much."

Mrs. Doke came from Moberly, Mo., two weeks ago to nurse Mrs. Jones and her husband wrote her last Saturday telling her to return home. Mrs. Jones did not improve and Mrs. Doke remained longer. Doke became angry when she did not return to Hannibal Wednesday night. He went to the Jones home early this morning and is said to have attempted to break down the door. Jones went to a telephone to call an officer but the instrument was out of order. He then went to his father's home and secured a shotgun. He returned home, ordered Doke to leave but Doke came at him and Jones fired.

BELIEVE YOUNG MAN KILLED MOTHER AND SET FIRE TO HOUSE

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, July 27—A crushed skull found on the body of Mrs. William Glime of Shellsburg, a small town near here when it was fished out of a flooded cellar after the house had been burned to the ground Thursday leads the authorities to believe she was murdered by her son, Clark Glime, 22, who then set the house on fire. Ten gallons of gasoline had been poured in the building. The bodies of Mrs. Glime and her son were both found in the cellar.

The father and another son were threshing at a neighbring farm. It is thought the boy was driven insane by the extreme heat. He once had been an inmate of the state insane asylum.

Distribution of the fund is leit to the discretion of the secretary of war but in no case shall any dependent family receive more than $50 a month.

An amendment giving soldiers on the border the right to vote in the field at the November election was eliminated from the bill on a point of order. War News Summarized

Hard fighting has commenced again between British and Germans in the Somme region of France near Pozieres around Longueval and in the Delville Wood. The British Wednesday night captured an important German trench north of the line running from Posieres to Bazentin-Le-Petit, but were shelled out of it Thursday morning.

Aother attack however gave the British a foothold in the southern end of the trench. South of the Somme, French made further progress against Teutons east of Estrees. In Champagne, Germans raided French first trenches near Prosnes but later were driven out in a counter attack. Bombardments are in progress on various sectors around Verdun.

Further advances for Russ troops are chronicled by Petrograd. Vienna admits the falling back of Austrians south of Leszniow near Brody in the face of superior forces of Russians and that northeast of Brody in the face of superior forces of the Russians gained insignificant advantages in which the attackers suffered extra-ordinarily heavy losses.

Russians are reported from Petrograd to be on the heels of Turks retreating from Erzeringan.

Bombardments by Austrians in the Asiago basin along the Isonzo front and against other Italian positions in the Austro-Italian theater are reported by Rome.

CHICAGO SANITARY DISTRICT MAY GET POWER RIGHTS AT JOLIET

CHICAGO, July 27.—With the rejection today of the bid of Andrew Cook, who is said to represent eastern interests of $3 per horsepower per year for the power rights at Dam No. 1 at Joliet it practically became a certainty that the right would go to the hicago Sanitary District, the only other bidder.

Governor Dunne, members of the state canal commission and trustees of the sanitary district conferred today and later the governor said it is now merely a question of deciding which of the sanitary districts' two bids is more acceptable to the state. In one bid the district offered the state $15.01 per horse power per year and in another bid a much smaller rate combined with the pledge to make certain improvements which would form the first leg of the Illinois deepwater system.

DENY BRITISH CRUISER VISITED CHESAPEAKE

NORFOLK NAVAL OFFICIALS RECEIVE REPORT IN SILENCE

British Embassy's Denial Does Not Cause Men on Board Battleship Louisiana to Change their Stories

Norfolk, Va., July 27—Official denial by the British embassy at Washington that a British cruiser recently had visited Chespeake Bay was received in silence by naval officials here today but from other sources it was learned that there was no disposition on the part of any of the men on the Battleship Louisiana who reported that they saw a ship which signalled "English cruiser" to change their stories.

On at least two points, that the unidentified ship had the general outlines of a cruiser and that she signalled she was one, at least five of the Louisiana's men agree it is said. Others are understood to insist tha they saw certain other details about the ship which convinced them she was a man-of-war.

Captain Soares of the Brazilian merchant ship Tibagy the other vessel besides the U. S. S. Collier Neutune known to have been near Louisiana during the early hours of Tuesday morning, gave Collector Hamilton information today which officials declared eliminated all possibility of her having been mistaken for a cruiser.

The neutrality squad of United States warships and the allied patrol spent a quiet day outside the capes.

The armored cruiser North Caroline and the Destroyers Flusher, Storrett, Beale and Reid now are on guard. The three funnelled British cruiser which has been on patrol for several days, steamed eastward out of sight today and a four funnelled French cruiser replaced her. Once during the day both allied and United States ships entirely disappeared from sight, going, it was understood, to the vicinity of the southern drill grounds.

STATE MAY DROP CRIMINAL CHARGE AGAINST MRS. MATTERS

CHICAGO, July 27.—The criminal charge of attempting to foist a false heir on the probate court in an effort to obtain a large share of her late husband's estate, now pending against Mrs. Dolly Ledgerwood Matters may be dropped by the state, according to a statement by Daniel G. Ramsey, assistant state's attorney, made in the federal district court here today.

Mrs. Matters and Margaret Ryan, a Canadian working girl, thru a habeas corpus proceeding instituted by the latter, are contending for the legal possession of "Baby Irene," each claiming she gave birth to the child.

Federal Judge K. M. Landis, upon whom falls the task of deciding which woman really is the mother of Irene today took under advisement the objection of the defense to further hearing on the habeas corpus procedings until the criminal charge had been disposed of.

F. E. Hinkle, attorney for Miss Ryan argued against the objection and said he doubted the criminal case ever would come to trial. When Judge Landis asked Mr. Heinkle what ground he had for that statement, Mr. Ramsey who was in the court room at the time answered for him.

ATTEMPT TO ORGANIZE ENTIRE TRAFFIC SYSTEM OF NEW YORK

Three Men are Fatally Injured When Car Crashes Into Elevated Railroad Pillar.

New York, July 27—After a day of sporadic rioting by striking street railway employes and their sympathizers in the Bronx, William B. Fitzgerald, organizer of the Amalgamated association of street electric railway employes of America annonuced tonight that efforts are being made to organize the entire traffic system of Greater New York.

Strike leaders declared that virtually all the car men in the Bronx had joined the strike and that organizers now were bringing into the union the employes of the Third Avenue line which runs to the lower part of Mahattan. Officers of the railway lines declared tonight they had the situation well in hand and that if the police would permit uniformed men to operate the cars the strike would be ended tomorrow.

Three men were fatally injured when a street car crashed into an elevated railroad pillar in the Bronx tonight. One of them was a policeman serving as a guard. The accident was the most serious, which had occurred since the beginning of the strike. The car was demolished and the crew was sought vainly by the police after the accident.

Before ambulances arrived to take the injured men to hospitals, three other cars collided on top of the debris. According to the police the three cars had been stopped a block from the scene of the accident, but were started ahead at full speed after the first car careened int the post. So far as could bt learned no one was aboard any of the three.

SUCCESS ATTENDS TREATMENT OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS PATIENTS

Report in Thirty-Five Cases Treated With Intra-Spinal Injections of Adrenalin the Symptons Completely Subsided.

New York, July 27—Marked success has attended treatment of fifty infantile paralysis patients with intra-spinal injections of adrenalin, the remedy recently suggested by Dr. S. J. Meltzer, according to a report to the health department today by Dr. Edward J. Bermingham. In 35 cases, the report says, the symptoms completely subsided while the 15 other infants are said to be speedily recovering.

"We feel that Dr. Meltzer's theory has been sustained," Dr. Bermingham said. "We will not say proven, because fifty cases cannot prove such an important matter."

Special methods of caring for the patients have been adopted in connection with the use of adrenalin injections which are made directly into the spine every six hours. One of the methods is supplying the patients when the convalscent period starts with new dolls and toys. A happy state of mind is a great remedial measure, Dr. Bermingham said. It is expected the treatment will be administered to a large number of sufferers. Three more surgeons have joined the staff of Dr. Charles E. Banks, senior surgeon of the United States public health service in charge of the government's bureau for relating inter-state travel in connection with the epidemic, making a total of twenty one surgeons now on the staff.

The board of estimate today authorized the expenditure of funds needed to bring a score of scientists from as far west as Chicago and as fer east as Boston to this city for a conference on the epidemic.

Commissioner Emerson issued a statement showing that 97.3 per cent of the children who have had infantile paralysis have been under ten years of age.

PRESIDENT NAMES FARM LOAN BOARD

Members Will Undertake Division of Country Into Twelve Districts

TO LOCATE LAND BANKS

McAdoo Believes Six Months Will Be Required to Complete Organization

MAY MEET WITHIN TWO WEEKS

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Division of the country into twelve federal land bank districts and location of federal land banks in each of them under the new Rural Credits Law will be undertaken soon by the federal farm loan board four of whose members were nominated today by President Wilson.

Secretary McAdoo, who as an ex-officio member completets the board said tonight, however, that he believed it would be impossible to conclude organization of the system in less than six months and that it might not be in actual operation before next spring. The four men nominated today as members of the board are Charles E. Lobdell of Kansas; George W. Norris of Pennsylvania; W. S. A. Smith of Iowa and Herbert Quick of West Virginia. The president is expected to designate either Mr. Norris or Mr. Quick, the Democratic member of the board to act as farm loan commissioner and executive head of the farm loan system.

Until the senate acts upon the nominations no date for a meeting can be set, but it was believed probable tonight that the members would get together within two weeks. Hearings on the designation of districts and the location of banks probably will begin some time in September . The first of these is expected to be held here and most of the state capitals probably will be visited before they are concluded. that will require several months and other technical steps provided in the act preliminary to action organization of the banks probably wil prevent operation of the system before February or March.

Mr. Lobdell is a student of farmer's problems and has had extensive experience in loans on farm lands. He was a farmer before studying law, served in the Kansas legislature for ten years and was speaker of the Kansas house in 1895. In 1902 he was elected a judge and served on the bench for nine years resigning to become president of a bank at Great Bend. He is a past president of the Kansas Bar association and of the Kansas Bankers' association.

Mr. Norris, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania has been successively a newspaperman, a lawyer and a banker. He is director and deputy chairman of the federal reserve bank of Philadelphia and active in various civic and philanthropic organizations.

Mr. Smith, a farmer by occupation for the last year, has been an expert in farm practice in the department of agriculture here and has had extensive experience in farming problems. As a young man he went to sea and became a ship master. For several years he served on the loan committee of a national bank in Sioux City.

Mr. Quick until a few months ago was editor of Farm and Fireside and for many years has devoted himself to a study of rural credits and other farm problems. Early in his acreer he taught school and practiced law and later was general manager of a telephone company in Nebraska and Iowa. He was nominated three times for mayor of Sioux City and was elected once, serving from 1898 to 1900. He was nominated for supreme court judge in Iowa in 1902.

That theory about the Bermuda heat waves and the battle that the waves have fought is all very interesting, but has no perceptible effect on the sweltering conditions, which now prevail, not only in Illinois but all thru surrounding states.

Rising Livestock Prices.

The marked slumping off in the prices of cattle in the principal markets during recent weeks has not been particularly consoling to the consumers, for the records show that during the past year meat animal prices have shown an average increase of 17.6 per cent, while beef cattle declined 13 per cent a hundred lbs. in the month ending July 15, for which figures have just been made available. The average was 71c more than for a year ago, and $1.45 higher than for a six year average. The government for years has been using all arguments at its command to encourage farmers and stockmen to raise more cattle, pointing out that the livestock was not being increased in proportion to the increased population. These warnings were based on facts judging from a study of statistics.

Suffrage Leaders Criticized.

The woman's suffrage leaders who have counted themselves fortunate in having the active support of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont are having the experiences of other political leaders in that they are being roundly criticised by the anti-suffragists. Mrs. Belmont's large contribution and her pledge to raise a fund of half a million dollars to secure the passage of the federal amendment granting the franchise to women is made the particular subject of attack.

It has almost always happened in the past that men who have made large contributions toward any fund purposing to bring to pass any special legislation have been the objects of a large amount of criticism, so that Mrs. Belmont's position is by no means unusual. The leaders of the suffrage party can console themselves with the thought that the experiences they are passing thru are very similar to those which the male voters have already met.

When Munitions Orders Cease.

It has been wisely asked if the authorities at Washington in the midst of their preparations for war are giving the proper thought of peace. In other words, much of the discussion in congress has dealt with enlargement of the army and navy, and the increase of coast defenses, and discussion of business and industrial questions has been relegated to the background. The Democratic leader seem to have failed to fully appreciate that the great industrial activity now is because of orders for war munitions from Europe and that when these orders cease coming that a period of business stagnation is almost certain.

This possible condition is emphasized by the announcement that the Westinghouse Airbrake company will soon dismantle its Pittsburg plant because the contract for producing 1,250,000 shells for the British government has been completed and no other orders are in sight. This will mean that 2,500 persons will be out of employment. If the same line of action be followed by a number of the great firms now engaged in munitions manufacture a serious situation will be presented. While preparations are going on for possible war times, certainly industrial conditions and the tariff should not be lost sight of.

The Texas View.

Texas is a strong Democratic state but the results from the recent primaries there show that the work of the president's national administration is not approved in the Lone Star state. This feeling is no doubt directly attributable to Texas' disapproval of the president's Mexican policy. For two years past there have been repeated requests from Texas, particularly from authorities located in counties adjacent to the boundary line, for greater protection and demand for some decisive action on the part of the government. Who can say that the citizens of the U. S. living in Texas in territory adjacent to Mexico are not more familiar with conditions there than citizens resident in other states? Their nearness to the scene of trouble gives them the advantage of first hand information and it is information which should have weight in shaping the country's policy with reference to Mexico. The people of Texas have been so thoroly ignored in the administration's Mexican plans that their present attitude is not at all surprising.

The Standard's Way.

The year thus far has been a very satisfactory one to the oil and gas producers of Kansas and in other fields. Prices paid producers by the Standard Oil company have shown considerable advance by comparison with the previous year, and as a result those operators who have wished to dispose of property have had their opportunity. As another result there has been a lot of new development work and rich fields heretofore unknown have been discovered. Now it is asserted that the Standard has begun to cut the prices offered to Kansas operators and to limit the amount of oil that can be delivered. This is done for the avowed purpose of checking development work. The Standard does not want too many fields developed and prefers to keep the production under control.

There are Jacksonville men interested in oil and gas fields of Kansas who are familiar with this Standard Oil company order. The incident is interesting because it illustrates how strongly the Standard Oil company is entrenched—that is, if anybody in recent years has had any doubt on this subject. Meanwhile the prices charged consumers for coal oil and gasoline remain practically unchanged.

What Are The Loan Benefits?

Just what benefit farmers will receive from the rural credits bill in a community like this does not appear on the surface. The farmer who wants a loan must join what is to be known as a national farm loan association, pay in $5 for one of its shares for each $100 he wishes to borrow. He has one vote a share and not to exceed ten votes in all. Then he applies to the association for the loan, giving his note and a first mortgage on his farm. If the association approves the loan then the note and mortgage are turned over to the land bank. The bank in turn sends the cash to the association for the borrower. No commission or brokerage is charged. No single loan can be for less than $100 or more than $10,000, nor for less than 5 years or more than 40. The loan must not exceed sixty per cent of the value of the land.

Provisions will be made for semi-annual interest payment, plus installment on the principal. The interest rate must not be above 6 per cent. In a community like this the farmer who owns land has no difficulty in borrowing money to the extent of fifty or sixty per cent of the value of the land, and at rates not to exceed 6 per cent. In this country there are many loans on real estate for 5 per cent and some at even a lower figure. It is comparatively easy to secure such loans for 5 to 10 year periods.

Without claiming to understand the law thoroly in all its details it appears that the only benefit to a borrower under this plan in a community like Morgan county would be in the opportunity for making a long term loan with the privilege of installment payments on the principal at the semi-annual interest paying dates.

Rippling Rhymes

LOOKING ON

I like to linger in the shade, close to the pail of lemonade, and watch the honest sons of toil get busy with the fertile soil. I like to see them shock the wheat, out in the blinding glare of heat, the great strong men who do not tire, and all their labors I admire. I wonder at the giant strength that they display, the whole day's length, and wish I had such thews as theirs—I'm soft from ridin easy chairs—I envy them the appetite which makes coarse fodder a delight, I envy them the sleep profound they know when slumbertime comes round; I envy them, but do not flee from my retreat beneath a tree. I often counsel other men to get back to the soil again, to simply live and labor hard, and work away their sinful lard. Bu this soft place beneath a tree is plenty good enough for me. The men who toil with might and main, who plow the glebe and reap the grain, receive my earnest, ardent praise, and I embalm them in my lays; and I am happy in the shade, with my tall jug of lemonade.

CATTLE PRICE BREAKS CUTS DOWN SHIPMENTS.

Demand Has Also Been Curtailed Sharply—Cattle From Dry Districts to Come Faster.

Chicago, July 26, 1916—The extreme bad break in the cattle market last week has caused a sharp decrease in receipts this week at all western markets, and has given us an unevenly higher market, bulk 25c to 35c higher than the low point last week. The extreme hot weather has curtailed the demand and we need light receipts until this extreme hot wave is broken. We are of the opinion that we have struck bottom on strictly good corn-fed cattle last week, and we believe the tendency from now on will be to a higher range of prices for that kind. The receipts of grass cattle, and cattle from the dry districts will probably increase from now on and may work lower, while we look for receipts of good well finished corn-fed cattle to gradually decrease during the summer and early fall months.

Butcher Market.

Good to choice cows and heifers, 25@35c higher. Medium and common, 10@15c higher. Bologna bulls 25c higher. Butchers 15@25c higher. Calves steady, top on vealers $12.00.

Hogs.

Hog receipts continue moderate. Prices on good corn-fed hogs of all weights are well maintained. The best sold today at $10.12 1-2. $9.90 to 10.05 bought the bulk of the good ones. Old sows not well fatted are selling at $9.00@9.35. Good sows from $9.40@9.70. Good mixed hogs from $9.60@9.90. The outlook is strong for good corn-fed hogs.

Sheep and Lambs.

Lambs today were 15@25c higher. We sold several loads $10.25 straight. Ewes and wethers a little lower. Feeders are scarce and the demand for them strong.

MORTUARY

Puthoff.

Fred Puthoff died at Our Savior's hospital Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock after an illness which, tho beginning last January, did not become acute until several days ago. Mr. Puthoff was a cigar maker by occupation and was one of the best known followers of that trade in the city. Tho quiet and unassuming, he had many friends and news of his passing will be received on every hand with keene regret.

Mr. Puthoff was born in Kentucky and came to Jacksonville some twenty-five years ago. He first took employment with H. H. Knollenberg, remaining with Mr. Knollenberg for about ten years and in March 1898 associating himself with Charles Blesse and others in the formation of the Co-Operative Cigar Co. Mr. Puthoff withdrew from this company after a year's time and for twelve or fourteen years was employed by E. D. Pyatt. Until kept from work by his last illness, Mr. Puthoff worked for the McCarthy-Gebert Co.

Had he lived until fall Mr. Puthoff would have been 69 years old. While active in his trade he held membership in the local Cigar Makers' Union. He was twice married. One son of Mr. Puthoff resides in St. Louis and other children make their home in Covington, Ky.

Funeral announcement will be made after the arrival of relatives of the deceased.

THE PENINSULAR HIGH OVEN RANGE

Introducing a new Epoch in Stove Making.

In the ordinary stove you must force the heat down and around the oven. It requires a good draft and hot fire to do it.

In this range the heat goes the natural way up up and around the oven, requires less fuel, uses any any kind of flue. Eventually all good stoves will be built on this principle.

The handsomest and altogether most convenient range in every way. See it in our window. As soon as you see it you want to own it.

Our Local Pioneers

Ae a recent meeting of the Strawn's Crossing Woman's Club the following interesting paper on local pioneers was presented by Miss Anna McDonald.

In the fall of 1819 Seymour Kellogg (born March 21st, 1779, and died April 13th, 1827) accompanied by a brother came from N. Y. state and settled near the head of the Mauvaisterre and according to the recollection of the "oldest inhabitants" were the first white settlers of what is now Morgan County. Seymour Kellog had been in the war of 1812 and was known as Colonel Kellogg. They had come to the southern part of the state in 1818, the year Illinois was admitted into the union.

They built their log cabin, (the pioneer home in this county) on the land later owned by Col. Samuel T. Matthews, their dwelling had clapboard roof, ground floor, and no doors or windows and was 30 miles to any neighbor, where Springfield now stands.

In January, 1820, the Kelloggs entertained three explorers from N. Y., David Berdan (father of Judge James Berdan,) George Nixon and Isaac Fort Koe, these men had been sent as a committee to explore the wstern states, and select homesteads for its members. They passed and named Diamond Grove and Mr. Koe selected a place of residence and in February, he built a log-cabin in which he lived until his death, Oct. 12, 1821, the first death in the county. His remains lie in Diamond Grove cemetery.

A little explanation may not be amiss just here as to the kind of boards clap-boards were, a suitable tree was cut down, then chopped into five foot lengths, split into sections six inches wide, then these sections were split into boards about as thin as possible, probably 1-4 inch in thickness, these were put on in courses over the top of the cabin, each course being held in place by a pole, it was not an unheard of circumstance for the rain to find its way thru such a roof in times of a hard shower, a little thing like that was not much thought of in those days.

Next after Mr. Koe came Messrs. John Wyatt and Wm. Wyatt who settled on the farm later owned by Cyrus Matthews. These men came about March 1st., 1820, and soon after, during the same month, Isaac Reeve, Joel Reeve, Lazarus Reeve, Jno. Reeve, Jas. B. Crain, James Deaton and his son Levi, Martin Dial, and Robert James selected their claims in the immediate vicinity of where Jacksonville now stands They made their choice just as attractive locations caught their fancy.

This little band of pioneers, comprised with a single exception, only males, the pioneers and their sons, the women and smaller children not being brought to their new home until in the fall. Jas. B. Crain, however, brought his family with him and Mrs. Crain was the only white woman in the settlement during the first summer, being it is claimed, also the mother of the first white child born in the county, Sarah Crain, born December, 1820, died April 19th, 1895, age 74 years, 4 months, and 4 days.

In choosing a location their plan was to be near some timber and a spring or branch, after building either a rail or log cabin the new settler would mark off the boundaries of their claim, each settler being entitled to claim, under the rules of the frontier, 320 acres. The claim lines were marked by blazing the trees thru the timber and driving stakes into the ground at short distances thru the prairie.

Mr. Reeve settled in Sandy, S. W. of the Diamond Grove, he being a blacksmith. He brought his anvil, hammers and bellows and set up his shop in the open air, the interlocking stumps of two saplings being his anvil-block. the bellows being rigged to stakes driven into the ground, the fireplace a very primitive affair. Thither the settlers came from far and near to have their little jobs of smithing done.

In 1821 there was but 20 families within the present limits of Morgan Scott and Cass counties.

Just here I will mention several others who came to the county in 1821. The Corrington farm on the Mauvaisterre was settled by a Mr. W. Miller Stephen Jones settled the Castle place, and Joseph Slattern made the first improvements on the Orear place. John Addison settled on the Layton place, a Billy Robinson settled wnorth of where Antioch church now stands. The Robertson family settled on the northern fork of the Mauvaisterre.

Emigration was great to the Sangamon country (the section of country drained by streams emptying into the Illinois river between Alton and Peoria was known as the Sangamon country) between 1822 and the ("Deep Snow") 1830-31.

The names of some of the early settlers, who came during this time, will be of especial interest to the members of the club, as we know the descendants of some, while others have often been spoken of in our midst, viz.. Thornton Shepherd, William Jackson, Elijah Bacon, Jacob Kedding, Montgomery Pitner, Jacob Huffaker, Abner Vanwinkle, James Green, and Daniel McDonald, Abel Richardson and his sons Daniel and Benjamin settled on the Mauvaisterre in 1821, three miles east of Jacksonville on the farm where Mr. Ed Phillips now lives, the son Dan Richardson later owned the farm where Mr. Stephen Dunlap's home is, Ben remaining on the old place.

Provisions

In the early years of the white settlement, what was known as Indian corn, the only bread-stuff, was exceedingly hard to obtain as mills were scarce, Jarvoes mill on Cahokia creek was for a long time the only mill accessible to our pioneers. In 1821 a small horse mill was put up at Clary's Grove, Menard county, to these mills the boys of the families made frequent and tedious journeys for meal for bread.

Sometimes the settlers went to the mill at Edwardsville, 85 miles away, where the accommodations were better than at the mills just mentiond. Later on a small hand mill was put up at Diamond Grove by Mr. Koe, and a Mr. Jezekiah Webster.

Game was scarce in those days, having been killed off or frightened away by the Indians, but bees were abundant and in the fall the first settlers reaped a rich harvest in honey and wax, the latter at that time, in connection with furs the circulating currency of the frontier.

Diamond Grove was a favorite haunt of the wild bee, the surrounding prairies blooming with a succession of wild flowers, affording them a rich field for the collection of honey and wax.

Sale of Land

The first public land was offered for sale in 1823, was sold for $1.25 per acre. All those who settled before that time were only squatters on the public land and could hardly be termed permanent settlers. People were not disposed to report anyone for making a settlement, they thought the government ought to sell the land.

Clothing

As the supply of clothing which the settlers brought with them began to wear out they were driven to shift in the best way they could to supply that want.

Many of them had brought their spinning wheels, and those who were so fortunate as to own a few head of sheep were in a measure independent, the women being able to spin and weave linsey and jeans for the family wear, the weaving being done on handmade, wooden looms, Game began to multiply after the first season, and the skins of the deer were dressed and made into warm clothing.

The Methodist and Baptists held meetings in different parts of the conuty, probably 1822, the first sermon preached in the county was by a Methodist Episcopal minister by the name of Joseph Rasey. The first church organized in the county, 1822, was by the Methodists in a Mr. Jordan's log house just back of where the Berean College was later built, the old part of Passavant hospital.

The first campmeeting held in the county was near Lynnville by Peter Cartwright.

The Baptists held services at the home of Peter Conover in Jersey Prairie and at one or two more places in that part of the county. The first Baptist minister was Rev. Wm. Drinkwater. Another Baptist minister of those times was the Rev. Samuel Bristow who brought a colony here and settled 3 miles northwest of Jacksonville.

Th first Sunday school was organized at or near Princeton.

The Cumberland Presbyterians came in 1824 probably, they had a church and camp-ground 6 or 8 miles northeast of Jacksonville where they maintained services for many years.

Rev. Mr. Brich was the pioneer for the Presbyterians, coming in 1824.

County Created Anti-Slavery

The county was created by an act of the legislature dated Jan. 31, 1823, and named for Andrew Jackson. In 1837 Cass was taken from Morgan, and in 1839 Scott was set off.

About 1823 a society was formed in the county to prevent the introduction of slavery into this state. Later Mr. John Laurie (father of John and George Laurie, now deceasd) was also an abolitionist, and altho probably not being a member of the society of Jacksonville was ever ready to help the cause by talking it to his friends and distributing tracts. He was a Scotch Presbyterian and whatever he knew to be right he did what he could to bring it to pass on—before the Civil War, Jacksonville was on what was called "The Underground Railway," that is there were certain citizens (8 in number) who it was known would secretly help a runaway slave on his way to the Canadian border. Pleasant Plains was the next place to where they were sometimes taken from here, besides helping the fugitives they distributed literature, When Uncle Tom's Cabin came out the society purchased 500 copies which they distributed judiciously and discreetly (gratis) in the interest of anti-slavery. They were read by men, women and children and did more than anything else ever had to increase the hostility to slavery.

Mr. Joseph O. King and Timothy Chamberlain were two of the members of the society.

Schools

The first school taught regularly in the county was kept at Isaac Edward's farm on the Springfield road, that place was later owned by John Shuff, now C. M. Coon's home The 1st school in Jacksonville was taught by Judge Thomas in a log school-house. It was taught on the subscription plan. Mr. Thomas was a Kentucky lawyer.

Mr. John M. Ellis an American Home Missionary was instrumental in founding Illinois college, Dec. 1829. After looking elsewhere for a site he came here and College Hill was selected, where soon after the first building was erected and within 5 or 6 years, all thte land within 3 miles of town rose in value at least 1,000 per cent.

Previous to closing the contract, securing the college site, an association of young men in New Haven, Conn. undertook to build a college in the west. Rev. Julian Sturtevant was their representative, so with their assistance the college was founded.

The Jacksonville Female Academy was brought into existence by the same Presbyterian minister, Mr. Ellis.

The first proceedings in reference to the Academy took place in 1830. It was formally opened in 1833. Up to 1885 nearly 3,000 young women had been connected with the school.

Mrs. Ellis had conducted a private school for young women, prior to the founding of the academy. She was an intelligent Eastern woman and well qualified for work of this kind.

In 1883 Mrs. Ellis and two of their children died with cholera. They were all laid in the grave at the same time.

In 1832 a number of women, who had come from different places to reside here, formed what was known as the Female Education Society.

Their object was to educate young women and send them back to their own community to teach the children, in some cases the mothers too.

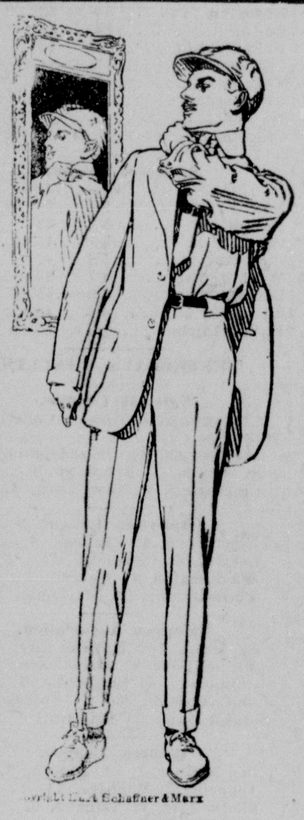

The society met with approval, and auxiliaries were formed in New York City, Rochester, Madison, Wisconsin, Davenport, Iowa, Chicago. Galesburg, Springfield, Canton, Peoria and Waverly, Ill.

Weddings

No great ado was made over a wedding, ministers were few in those days and the marriage ceremony was usually said by a missionary or justice of the peace. If neither could be procured, the father of the bride sometimes assumed the role of minister, it was understood however that the first missionary who came along would confirm the marriage, altho it might be some time the marriage vow was never broken.

Neither was it always possible to have a minister in attendance at the time of a death, if not a service out of respect for the departed was sometimes held after the interment had taken place.

Our pioneers seemed to do the best they could under the existing circumstances. Poverty did abound but genuine hospitality did much more abound—it was considered no task to do one's neighbor a kindness altho it might interfere with their own affairs to do so.

QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.

10. Verses 12-16. When a church is contentious, as here described by Paul, by what kind of argument can you show that it is a Christian Church?

1. If two men actually quarrel over the proper subjects, on the mode of Christian baptism why are they not followers of Satan?

12. Verses 17125. What is the origin of baptism, and what is its object?

13. If a preacher shows profound scholarship, and masterly eloquence in the pulpit, would that or not, and why, be contrary to Paul's idea of preaching the gospel, and would it be apt to make converts there and then?

14. Paul seems to argue that a display of human wisdom in preaching the gospel, would obscure the simple story of the cross; is he right, or wrong, and why?

15. Why is salvation through Jesus' death on the cross foolishness to worldy-wise men?

16. What is "the power of God", which "saved" experience, and through which the wisdom and love of God, are seen in the cross of Christ?

17. Why is it that the wisdom of the ages has been so impotent to save men from their sins, while belief in a crucified Saviour has been all powerful to do this?

18. Verses 26-31. Why is it that wealth and wisdom are generally a hinderance to salvation through the cross, and that the lowly in heart only can be saved?

19. Chap. 2: 1-5. From your observation of the average preacher, would you say or not, and why, that he trusts more in supernatural power, for the success of his message than he does in the force of his sermons?

20. In educating young men for the ministery which should be emphasized, intellectual development, or dependence upon the power of The Holy Spirit, and why?

SINGLE G., CAPTURES HEADLINER ON RACING CARD AT DETROIT

Wins Free-For-All-Pace With Russell Boy Second—Grand Chimes Takes Hotel Pontchartrain Stake for 2:15 Trotters.

Detroit, July 27—Some of the best and fastest racing of the week's program was seen at the Grand circuit here this afternoon. The free-for-all pace, headliner on the day's card, went to Single G., which won the first two heats and finished second to Russell Boy in the third. The judges imposed a fine of $100 on Driver C. A. Gosnell for not driving out the third heat with Single G.

In the first heat Single G., went into the lead at the half and held it to the finish with Branden Direct and Russell Boy so close together a few lengths back that only the judges could place them second and third. This heat was the fastest of the week 2:00 1-4, and the last half of it was covered in 58 seconds flat. In the third Single G., took the lead at the start and held it to the last turn. Here Russell Boy seemed to have more in reserve and won in a driving finish with Single G., second and Judge Ormonde third.

Grand Chimes, altho wining only one heat in the Pontchartrain stake of $3,000 for 2:15 trotters, got the decision under the old placing system having the best standing in the final summary. Early Don took the first heat with little trouble, easing up at the finish. Busy Lassie and Grand Chimes staged a great battle for the third heat, turning into the the stretch neck and neck.

They held this position to within a hundred feet of the finish. Here Mac Donald swung Lindsey out from behind them and pulled into victory by a head.

Box R., took three heats of the Hotel Griswold stake for 2:10 pacers at $2,000 with ease.

Four $1,200 event tomorrow will conclude the local meeting. They are the 2:05 and 2:07 pace and the 2:12 and 2:06 trots.

NEW HAVEN WOULD RETAIN BOAT LINES

New York, July 26—Examiner Howell, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, today begins the taking of testimony in this city on the application of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to continue operation of its steamboat lines in New England. The Panama Canal act prohibits joint ownership of competing steamship and railway lines. The New Haven company contends that this prohibition does not apply to its lines.

HELD BY A MANIAC

Plight of a Steeplejack Atop a Towering Church Spire.

WHEN HIS HELPER WENT MAD.

The Struggle For Life In Midair and the Lucky Incident That Enabled Merrill to Overcome the Cunning Lunatic In His Death Grapple.

In Cleveland Moffett's "Careers of Danger and Daring" is this incident of real life that was told to Mr. Moffett by Merrill, the famous steeplejack, to whom it occurred:

"Did you ever have an impulse to jump off a steeple?" I questioned, recalling the sensations of many people in looking down even from a housetop.

"I've kept pretty free from that," said he, "but there's no doubt climbing steeples does tell on a man's nerves. Now, there was Dan O'Brien. He had an impulse to jump off a steeple one day and a strong impulse too. He went mad on one of the tallest spires in Cincinnati, right at the top of it."

"Went mad?"

"Yes, sir, raving mad, and I was by him when it happened. I forget whether the church was Baptist or Presbyterian, but I know it stood on Sixth street, near Vine, and there was a big hand on top of the steeple with the forefinger pointing to heaven.

"We were putting fresh gilding on this hand. I was working on the thumb side and O'Brien on the little finger side, both of us standing on tiny stagings about the size of a chair seat and both of us made fast to the steeple by life lines under our arms. That's an absolute rule in climbing steeples—never to do the smallest thing unless you're secured by a life line.

"It was coming on dark, and I was hurrying to get the gold leaf on, because we'd given the hand a fresh coat of sizing that would be dry before morning. We hadn't spoken for some time, when suddenly I heard a laugh from O'Brien's side that sent a shiver down my spine. Did you ever hear a crazy man laugh? Well, if ever you do you'll remember it. I looked at him and saw by his face that something was wrong.

"'What are you doing?' said I.

"He answered very polite and steady like, but his tone was queer. 'I'm trying to figure out how long it would take a man to get down if he went the fastest way.'

"I thought I had better keep him in a good humor, so I said, 'I'll tell you what, Dan, you brace up and get this gold on, and then we'll race to the ground in our saddles.'

"'That's a fair idea,' said he in a shrill voice, 'but I've got a better one. We'll race down without any saddles; yes, sir, without any lines, without a blamed thing.'

"'Don't be a fool, Dan. What you want to do is to get that gold on—quick.' I tried to speak sharp.

"'No, sir; I'm going to jump, and so are you.'

"I caught his eye just then and saw it wasn't any time to bother about gold leaf. I reached up and eased the hitch of my line around the hand so I could swing toward him. I knew if I once got my grip on him he wouldn't make any more trouble. But I'd never had a crazy man to deal with, and I didn't realize how tricky and quick they are. While I was working around to his side and thinking he didn't notice it he was laying for me out of the corner of his eye, and the first thing I knew he had me by the throat and everything was turning black. I let go of the line and dropped back on my saddle board helpless, and if it hadn't been for blind luck I guess the people down below would have got their money's worth in about a minute. But my hand struck the tool box as he pressed me back, and I had just strength enough left to shut my fingers on the first tool I touched and strike at him with it. The tool happened to be a monkey wrench, and when a man gets a clip on the head with a thing like that he's pretty apt to keep still for awhile. And that's what O'Brien did. He keeled over and lay there, and I did, too, until my head got steady. Even then I guess we'd both have fallen if it hadn't been for the life lines.

"The rest was simple enough after I got my senses back. Dan was unconscious, and all I had to do was fasten a rope to him and lower away. They took care of him down below until the ambulance came, and he spent that night in a hospital. And he's spent most of his years since then in an asylum, his mind all gone except for short periods, when he comes to himself again, and then he always starts out to put an end to me. That last impulse to destroy me has never left him."

Not In His Line.

A society for disseminating religious literature once sent a bundle of tracts to a railway manager for placing in the waiting room with the title, "A Route to New Jerusalem." He returned them, with the message, "We cannot place the tracts, as New Jerusalem is not on our system."—London Tit-Bits.

They All Do Then.

"Tell me, is there ever a time when you feel that you really hate your husband?"

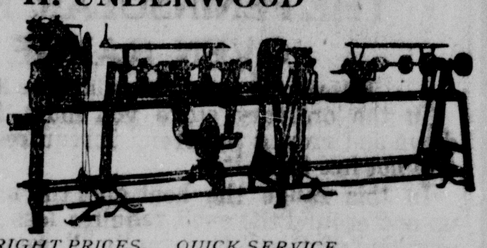

"Yes. The times when he telephones me at the last minute that he won't be home for supper." — Detroit Free Press.

NEW LUBRICANT RESISTS HEAT

PREVENTS RAPID SEDIMENTATION

Ordinary oil breaks down under the terrific heat of an automobile engine. Within a few hours, black sediment is formed which partially crowds-out the remaining liquid from the friction points where lubrication is most vital. Such under-supply of oil causes friction between the metal surfaces, intense heat, loss of power and expensive repairs.

The new lubricant that resists heat prevents rapid sedimentation, insures generous lubrication, and, except where mechanical faults exist, prevents carbon.

Relative Oil Destruction

The contents of the bottles shown, illustrate the relative durability of ordinary oil and of Veedol the new lubricant that resists heat. Veedol deposits only a small fraction as much sediment as ordinary oils.

There is a fundamental difference between ordinary oils and Veedol. Ordinary oils are unstable and therefore unserviceable because of non-heat-resisting chemical structure. Special processes of manufacture developed by this company and the use of Pennsylvania paraffine-base crude oil give Veedol, the new lubricant, its unusual chemical structure, and its remarkable heat-resisting ability.

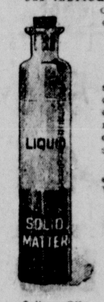

Make this test

Clean out the crank case. Fill with kerosene. Run the motor about thirty seconds under its own power; then draw out all kerosene and refill with Veedol.

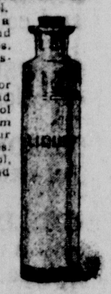

Now make a test-run over a familiar road—up steep hills and along straight, level stretches. Keep a record of oil and gasoline mileages.

You will find that your motor has altogether new pickup and hill climbing ability. Veedol enables you to get the maximum mechanical efficiency from your car and to reduce your expenses.

Get a five-gallon can of Veedol, and make this convincing road test.

FEDERAL ROAD BILL PRESENTS PROBLEMS

DIFFERENT PROCEDURE NECESSARY IN VARIOUS STATES.

In Illinois Constitutional Provision Makes it Necessary For Counties to Apply Separately For Share of Fund—Payments To Be Spread Over Several Years.

A great deal of interest is felt in the federal road law altho there is not as yet a thoro understanding as to the provisions. Local people who have paid some attention to road improvement legislation said frankly yesterday that they were not familiar with all the details of the law just passed, which in the course of five years will make about $75,000,000 available for road betterments. The provisions of the law, however, are such that for the next fiscal year the total amount available will be $5,000,000. Illinois' apportionment from this sum will be $228,000. Just what portion will come to each county remains to be worked out.

The provisions of the law are such that federal funds will not be available for states that do not have highway commissions or organizations of the same character. Time will be allowed for the organization of state commissions and the provisions are such that if the funds apportioned for the first, second and third years are not used at that time that they do not revert to the government as is the case with state aid roads.

In Illinois it seems that a constitutional provision will prohibit the state from contributing to the federal fund in a co-operative way. Therefore the work must be taken up by counties and those counties which wish to match the federal appropriations must proceed in the manner outlined by the law, under the direction of the department of agriculture and the federal treasury. It is as yet impossible to figure certainly the amount available for each county as that cannot be determined until it is known how many counties are to participate. The general idea seems to be that the amount available for each county in the state from the federal fund will be about the same as now available from the state fund.

As the first step is the federal goversment's part of pending $150,000,000,000 on good roads during the next five years in cooperation with the states, Secretary Houston soon will announce preliminary plans for organization and sometime before September 11 will notify the governors of states of the apportionment of federal funds for this year. A circular will also be sent to all the governors and state highway authorities outlining a tentative plan of procedure.

The $150,000,000 is to be paid half by the government and half by the several states, apportioned among the latter according to their respective area, population and rural mail mileage.

The expenditures are authorized by the Shackleford-Baskhead good roads law, the first granting federal aid to states in road building. It was signed July 11 by President Wilson and government officials are preparing to put its provisions into early operation. Actual construction of some of the roads may begin this fall and extensive construction next spring is planned.

Appropriations for the present year, ending July 1, 1917, authorized by Congress are $5,000,000. For the four succeeding years they are, respectively, $10,000,000; $15,000,000; $20,000,000 and $25,000,000. The law provides, however, that no government money shall be available unless the states spend an equal amount, matching the government contributions dollar for dollar.

Every cent of the federal and state funds, the act provides, shall be spent to build new roads. Maintenance costs thereafter must be borne by the states alone.

Rules and regulations to put the federal aid law as it is popularly known, into prompt operation are now being drafted by the Secretary of Agriculture, upon whom devolves practically the entire work of supervising the government expenditures. Immediate supervision will be by the Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering, of which Logan Waller Page is director.

A conference of highway representatives of all states and possibly, of organizations interested in the good roads movement, engineering experts and others, to discuss measures for promulgating the new law is planned soon by Secretary Houston.

Apportionment among the several states of the $5,000,000 for the first year's work will soon be announced by Postmaster General Burleson, who is required to annually certify apportionments because of changes in rural post route mileages and population. The allotments of the federal appropriations will be made by the Secretary of Agriculture, one-third being based on the ratio which the population of each states pays to the total United States population, acording to the latest census, one-third in the ratio which the mileage of rural post roads in each state bears to the total national mileage, and one-third in the ratio which the area of each state bears to the total area.

The approximate apportionments of this year's $5,000,000 appropriation, less three per cent for administrative expenses with those of other years in proportion, are as follows:

Alabama	$107,200
Arizona	71,750
Arkansas	84,850
California	155,750
Colorado	86,800
Connecticut	31,900
Delaware	8,300
Florida	56,050
Georgia	138,650
Idaho	62,750
Illinois	228,800
Indiana	140,600
Iowa	150,700
Kansas	148,750
Kentucky	100,600
Louisiana	67,950
Maine	48,750
Maryland	44,150
Massachusetts	76,000
Michigan	150,650
Mississippi	91,400
Minnesota	146,050
Missouri	175,550
Montana	100,850
Nebraska	110,700
Nevada	66,950
New Hampshire	21,650
New Jersey	60,800
New Mexico	82,350
New York	258,500
North Carolina	116,400
North Dakota	78,400
Ohio	193,700
Oklahoma	118,250
Oregon	81,450
Pennsylvania	239,950
Rhode Island	12,950
South Carolina	74,100
South Dakota	83,750
Tennessee	118,250
Texas	301,050
Utah	57,950
Vermont	23,600
Virginia	102,000
Washington	73,250
West Virginia	55,050
Wisconsin	132,200
Wyoming	63,750

Routes and construction materials of the new roads are to be finally determined by the Secretary of Agriculture. No public road can be built under the law until its location, cost and character are approved by him. Every road project with plans, specifications and cost estimates must be given his approval before any of the federal money shall be available. There is no specific requirement that such roads shall be permanent, but the act declares they shall be "substantial in character," the Secretary being given discretion to construe the the question of substantiability in each separate case.

A limit of $10,000 permile, however, is the maximum fixed by the law to prevent use of the government funds in building costly boulevards which would not assist in rural development.

Whether the new roads built under the law shall be main-travelled trunk lines, connecting inter-state highways, or merely small sections scattered thruout the states is also left to the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture. Construction of both is expected. At the proposed conference of state highway representatives here, it is believed that proposals for a comprehensive, corelative road-building scheme will be reached. The Americain Highway Association, the American Automobile Association and other good roads organizations are interested in such co-ordination and correlation of the public roads thruout the entire nation. Development of the national road system as a whole is the broad scheme and aim of government officials with the aid of state authorities

The machinery for cooperative action is substantially as follows: States desiring to secure their share of the federal applications, submitting the route and character of roads proposed to the Secretary of Agriculture. Should he approve the projects, the Secretary of Agriculture will notify the state commissions and the Secretary of the Treasury. The latter will then set aside the share of the United States, which shall not exceed fifty per cent of the cost. The Secretary of Agriculture will order payment of the federal funds upon completion of the roads, and is also authorized to make partial payments as construction proceeds.

The construction work and labor in each state is to be done in accordance with state laws and under immediate supervision of the state highway department, subject to inspection and approval by government engineers. This leaves the states in control of the construction, subject only to insure good designs.

Selection of road routes, as well as their type and structural composition is also left primarily to the state officials, subject to approval or rejection by the Secretary of Agriculture.

To secure a share of the federal funds, state legislatures or counties must appropriate sums equal to the federal allotments. The act also requires formation of state highway commissions, or a similar state agency, to have charge of the states' part of the work. Four states, Indiana, South Carolina, Georgia and Texas have no such commissions or corresponding organizations, but to secure federal funds they must be organized. Other states have no highway commissions, but have substantially similar departments or agencies.

Where states, like Illinois, are prohibited by their constitutions or otherwise prevented from acting under the proposed contributory plan, the act provides that the federal appropriations may become available to separate counties when they shall match the government's contributions, such roads, of course, being built only within the contributing counties.

To give the states ample time to build roads and to guard against hasty or extravagant construction, the law also provides that unexpended federal appropriations each year shall be available during the succeeding year, while this year's allotments to states which have no highway departments shall be available for three years, to give state legislatures time to create such departments.

For enforcement of the provision requiring the states to maintain the new roads without federal assistance, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to disapprove of further roads projects from such states or their civil subdivisions and deny further government aid if roads are not put in proper condition after four months' notice.

Development of a federal corps of highway engineers is one of the results expected from the new law. Civil service examinations will be held August 8 for many more highway engineers needed by the government.

Mason County Farmers Will Hear Hopkins

Frank D. Baldwin, agricultural agent for Mason county, has arranged for the appearance of Dr. Hopkins at the Quiver Lake chautauqua August 4. Dr. Hopkins' lecture will be on the subpect, "What Mason County Farmers Must do to Build Up Their Soils". His work with the state soil survey at the University of Illinois, and various experiment stations makes it certain that he can speak with authority on this subject. Farmers of Mason county are taking a great interest in their co-operative farm improvement work and it is certain that Dr. Hopkins will have a large audience.

Grain Prices Still Advance

The wheat market continues to advance altho there have not been sensational changes within the last two or three days. Thursday local elevators were able to pay $1.20 and $1.21. However the reports of the prevalence of black rust in the northwest continue to come in and unless there is a decided change in the tone of these reports grain men seem to be confident that further increases are to be expected. Meanwhile from weather bureau reports there is no indication of any early relief from the dry weather and heat, so that a rising corn market can also be anticipated. The advance for the week, like that on wheat, has not been sensational but steady.

Zemo for Dandruff

You do not want a slow treatment when hair is falling and the dandruff germ is killing the hair roots. Delay means—no hair.

Get, at any drug store, a bottle of zemo for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size. Use as directed, for it does the work quickly. It kills the dandruff germ, nourishes the hair roots and immediately stops itching scalp. It is sure and safe, is not greasy, is easy to use and will not stain. Soaps and shampoos are harmful, as they contain alkali. The best thing to use is zemo, for it is pure and also inexpensive.

Operation not Necessary after Taking the Great Medicine for Women.

Miller's Falls, Mass.—"Doctors said I had displacement very badly and I would have to have an operation. I had a soreness in both sides and a pulling sensation in my right side. I could not do much work the pain was so bad. I was also troubled with irregularity and other weaknesses. My blood was poor. We had been married four years and had no children.

After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I became well and strong and was saved from the operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is famous for restoring women to normal health and strength. When this is done wives no longer despair of having children.

A VICTORY FOR BREEDERS

(Drovers' Journal)

Live stock breeders and shippers, long handicapped by their operations by arbitrary railroad regulations and rates, have won a signal victory in the latest ruling of the interstate commerce commission on complaint filed by the National Society of Record Associations.

The commerce commission decision, which becomes effective Nov. 1, 1916, eliminates many of the evils which breeders have for years been forced to do business in shipping live stock.

Uniformity thruout the United States in the classifications and regulations relating to the transportation of live stock in less than carloads has been gained.

The commission's order, which will remain in force not less than two years, establishes minimum shipping weights which must not be exceeded by the roads, sets basic value which must not be lessened, sets an increase in freight rates for animals of higher value than the average, which must not be exceeded, eliminates the arbitrary rates for crated animals and bars the roads from forcing shippers of animals to send caretakers with same.

As a result of the decision, breeders shipping interstate will not have to deal with a multiplicity of diverse, conflicting regulations arbitrarily forced upon them by the railroads. They will not have to stand the expense of hiring attendants to accompany shipments, nor will they be obliged to pay upon arbitrary weights far above the actual weights of animals shipped.

WAR DEBT A BOND FOR PEACE?

The British government will ask for another credit of $1,500,000,000 next week. It will be granted as a matter of course and then the war will have cost approximately $13,000,000,000 in two years, and the end is not yet. France nas not expended so much, but France has been set back at least $10,000,000,000 and Germany has created a war debt with her own people as creditors which staggers the imagination. Austria has virtually gone bankrupt. Russia alone of all the belligerents has come nearer fighting her batttles upon her own resources, and yet Russia's credit is not as good in the money markets of the world as that of other belligerents. This is due to her backwardness in time of peace. It is not stretching the imagination to say that when articles of peace are finally signed Europe will owe in war bonds alone close on to, if not, $50,000,000,000, which is enough to keep the people of at least three generations upon the border land of poverty. The only possible good that can come of it rests in the fact that such stupendous debts may be equivalent to bonds to keep the peace.

Wheat and Oats Yields.

So far as threshing has been done, wheat is generally turning out better than had been expected. The best yield reported to me so far is 37 bushels per acre threshed by Robert E. Terhune of Parkland from 22 acres. Even his poorest wheat on sandy land made 14 bushels per acre. Shelby J. Smith of Washington had a piece of prairie land in wheat and it looked quite poor but it threshed out 20 bushels per acre. From all appearances we may have some 40 bushel yields even this year. This goes to show how tremendously fertile is Tazewell County land. There are many great wheat producing sections where 40 bushel yields are unheard of even in good years.

Colt Show Plans.

Dates and judges are being arranged for colt shows. The Washington Colt Show will be held Saturday afternoon, September 2nd in connection with the Annual Home Coming celebration. The Delavan Colt Show will be held Tuesday, September 5th as part of the regular classification of the Delavan Fair. Big prizes are offered at this show. The Hopedale and Morton shows will probably be held during September. The Armington Colt show will be held Wednesday, October 4th, as part of the Farmers' Institute. The Tremont Show will probably he held soon after that. Some of the shows will have considerably more money to offer in prizes than a year ago which shows that people appreciate the value of a colt show to the farming community and also to the town in which it is held. The colt show committee and stallion men of Washington met and arranged the special classes. W. E. Bayler and E. H. Smith each will provide four special classes of 5 prizes each totaling $15 in each class. John E. Guth will provide two such classes and Chris Guth Jr., will provide one such class. These are in addition to the regular classes and are for foals sired by their horses. In each of these special classes the prize will be paid in service fees of mares of the winning exhibitors bred in 1917 to the sire of the class. The open classes in the different shows follow about the same general plan as that adopted for Hopedale.

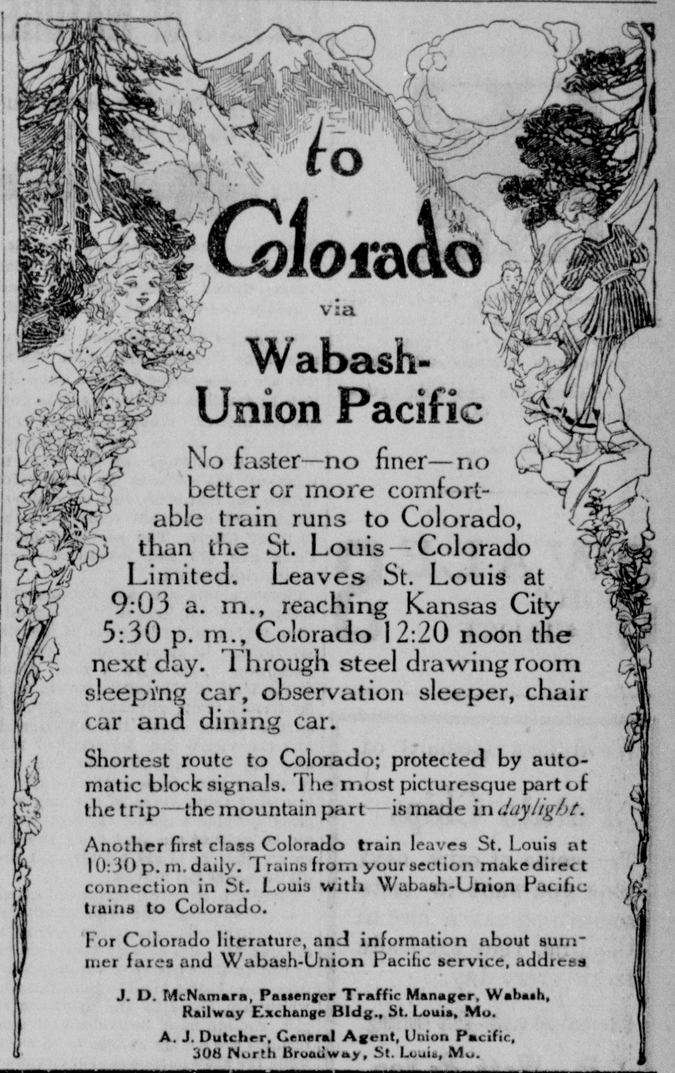

E. T. Robbins, Tazewell County Agricultural Agent.

We put it up to Hundreds of Dentists

Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed Senreco to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially as to its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhea, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested Senreco from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis—

And They Voted Yes

With practically one accord—said:

"Senreco appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen." "I cannot say too much for Senreco. It's one of the best I have used." "I can recommend Senreco as the best." "Makes the teeth glisten and is free from injurious ingredients, including pumice and grit." "I am indeed glad to get a tooth paste that does the work." "Congratulate you on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc." (These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)

With such endorsements from the men who know; why not go to your dealer today and get a tube of SENRECO—25c. Keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and protect yourself against Pyorrhea and decay.

A copy of the folder, "The Most General Disease in the World" together with a liberal trial size tube of SENRECO will be mailed you for 4c in stamps. The Sentanel Remedies Co., Inc. Dept. B. Masonic Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio.

FREAKS OF NATURE

We Know There Are Giants, but We Do Not Know Why.

THEY ARE A SORT OF PUZZLE.

Sometimes These Titans Are the Result of a Somewhat Mysterious Disease Called Giganticism—Og and Goliath and the Giant Races of Gath.

Giants and dwarfs abound in the region of the Caucasus mountains. Now, why are some people big and some little? In families heredity seems to govern the matter. Where races are concerned it is not so easily explained. We are accustomed, by the way, to think of the Chinese as of inferior height; but that is because our Chinese immigrants nearly all come from the south of China. The people of north China are tall and occasionally approach the gigantic.

Circus giants are not uncommonly sufferers from a disease called giganticism, which in the long run is inevitably fatal. It appears to be due to something wrong with a small gland at the base of the brain, which, in a mysterious way, governs growth. A strange thing about this affliction is that the victim may be attacked long after he has become adult and has ceased to grow in a normal way. A man over thirty years of age may suddenly become a giant, the first warning he gets of the fact being the discovery that he needs a larger hat and bigger boots and gloves.

There are, however, occasional giants who are simply people of extraordinary size, in other respects normal. How to account for them nobody knows unless by calling them freaks of nature. Much more remarkable are the giant families which are found in the Caucasus region, though most individuals of such families are not big enough to be worth while for show purposes. For circus exhibition a giant ought not to be less than seven feet six inches tall. With that stature, plus boots with thick soles and a high hat, a man may be safely advertised as touching the eight foot mark.

Such giant families are not unknown in history. Josephus and other profane historians indorse the statements found in many places in the Bible in regard to the giants of Gath, from which locality, it will be remembered, Goliath hailed. The Bible puts the stature of that redoubtable champion at "six cubits and a span"—in other words, about three inches short of ten feet. This would seem to be the altitude record for a human being, even allowing that the measurement was from the ground to the crest of Goliath's helmet.

The most celebrated of all the giant breed, not excepting Goliath, was Og, king of Bashan. At the time when the wanderings of the Israelites in the wilderness were brought to a close he was ruler over no fewer than sixty cities "fenced with high walls, gates and bars." His indeed was a powerful monarchy, and the conquest of his realm by Moses is looked upon to this day as one of the greatest events in Jewish history.

Og, by the way, was accustomed to sleep in a remarkable bedstead—not of wood or metal, but of basalt.

Whatever the circumstances under which the giant breed existed in Palestine at the time of the first arrival of the Israelites, it is certain that in later years they were scattered about among other peoples. In a political sense some were Hittites and yet others Amorites.

Coming into contact with other races they became, it would seem, either extinct or subordinate. From what little is said of them in history it is to be inferred that they were mentally inferior, though formidable fighters by reason of their great size and strength in an age when mere bodily prowess counted for much.

If Goliath be supposed to have been eight and one-half feet high (allowing for helmet and crest) his stature did not exceed that of the celebrated Winckelmeyer, the tallest man of modern times, who, born in Bavaria, died not so many years ago. The height of many giants has been exaggerated, but Winckelmeyer was carefully measured by the anthropologist Doubes.

A man of less than eight and one-half feet could hardly have worn the enormously heavy armor and accouterments described in the first book of Samuel as composing Goliath's outfit. The staff of his spear, we are told, was "like a weaver's beam," the iron spearhead alone weighing 600 shekels, about twenty pounds.

The giant breed in Palestine apparently died out not very long before the birth of Christ.

There have been lesser giant breeds in modern times, but in some instances they have been the result of artificial selection, as, for example, in the case of the wrestlers of Nippon, who, seen in a crowd, stand head and shoulders above the ordinary Japanese.

In the neighborhood of Potsdam there are today many very tall people owing to the fact that King Frederick William's famous regiment of giants was long stationed there. The regiment numbered 2,400 soldiers, and all Europe was searched by the monarch for big men to serve in it.—Philadelphia Record.

Still Dear.

"You used to tell me that I had the dearest little foot in the world," said she poutingly.

"That was lover's talk," said he, "but if you don't quit paying $10 for shoes bless me if I won't believe I spoke the truth."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Long ailments wear out pain and long hopes joy.—Stanislaus.

IMPORTANT STOCKS, PARTICULARLY RAILS, UNDER MODERATE PRESSURE

Trading Almost Lightest of Any Full Session Thus far This Summer.

New York, July 27.—Important stocks, particularly rails were once more under moderate pressure today with sympathetic heaviness in some of the better known specialties. Trading was almost the lightest of any full session thus far this summer. There was again a complete absence of outside interest. Total sales of stocks amounted to 252,000 shares.

United States Steel was even more apathetic than yesterday and the utter failure of the stock to make any response to the company's remarkable earnings, together with the extra dividend, occasioned further ahverse criticism.

Declines were registered by railroads. Mexican Petroleum, Texas company and the motor accessories such as Goodrich and Lee rubber were heavy with Willys-Overland, which fell almost three points to its lowest quotations since the change in the par value of the stock. Another break in German exchange with marks at 71½c, the lowest rate in several months, featured the international money markets.

Bonds were irregular with more steadiness in Anglo-French and the new French 5s.

Total sales of bonds par value, $4,290,000.

United States 2s declined ¼ percent, the 3s and Panama 2s, advanced ¼ and Panama registered 3s ½ on call.

RUINOUS CROP CONDITIONS BRING WILD UPTURNS IN WHEAT MARKET

Values at Times Raise Nearly 5 Cents a Bushel Higher than Previous Close—Finish is Unsettled at 3⅝ to 4 Cents Net Advance.

Chicago, July 27.—Wild upturns in the wheat market today carried values at times nearly 5c a bushel higher than yesterday's close. Ruinous crop conditions resulting from blackrust and from heat blight were pointed to in despatches from the spring wheat states, with continued assertions that Canada was also affected. The market closed unsettled at 3⅜ to 4 c net advance with Sept., at $1.23¼@⅜ and Dec., $1.26¾.

Corn gained ⅝ to 1c and oats ⅝ to ½c. In provisions the outcome ranged from 17½c decline to a rise of 5c.

Buying on a large scale began as soon as the market opened.

Stronger foreign markets and better export demand had a perceptible influence toward further emphasizing bullish sentiment.

Increasing reports of the corn crop going backward on account of continued extremely hot, dry weather resulted in higher prices for corn.

Oats made only a limited response to the strength of other cereals

Provisions weakened under liberal offerings, especially from eastern holders of lard. Buying was poor.

SPECULATIVE BUYING TENDS TO LIFT HOGS; GAINS NOT FULLY HELD

Dickens' Last Letter.

The last paragraph of the last letter written by Charles Dickens read:

But I hope I may be ready at 3 o'clock. If I can't be—why, then I shan't be. Ever affectionately, C. D.

This was written an hour or so before the fatal seizure. Every word droops below the level from which each starts, each line of writing descends across the page, the simple C. D. is very shaky, and the whole letter is broken and weak. Charles Dickens was not "ready" at "3 o'clock." He died at ten minutes past 6 p. m.

A Woman's Solace.

"Silas, I often think of the time when you came courting—it's a woman's solace. And when I entered the room you hastened to assist me to a chair—near your own. And now I select my own chair."

"Yes, Samantha, I remember it. I was always afraid you would stumble and fall and have fidgets. But I learned long ago that you are able to take care of yourself."

"And also of you, Silas."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The Sultan's Dreaded Shadow.

Ispahan has been for long interesting to Europeans as the home of that romantic person Zill-es-Sultan, the uncle of the last shah. A strong, bullying autocrat, his name became a word of terror, a bogy. When a southern Persian's horse refuses to drink he asks it: "What's the matter? Do you see your shadow (zill) in the water?"

Efficiency of the Human Face.

The Aims and Purposes of the Mexican Revolution

The following article from the New York Call was furnished the Journal by Fred Zumwalt, who believes that most of the present Mexican trouble is of monopolistic origin:

(From New York Call)

Just before the adjournment the American members of the "unofficial" peace conference called in Washington by the American Union Against Militarism gave out for publication a statement prepared at their request by the Mexican numbers explaining to the American people just what the revolutionary government in Mexico is trying to do. The American delegates—Moorfield Storey, of Boston; David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford University, and Paul U. Kellogg, editor of the Survey, New York City—issued the following brief explanation:

"The American members of the 'unofficial' peace conference have asked their three Mexican confreres to prepare a statement interpreting the revolutionary cause. Without attempting to pass upon its details, we feel that the people of the United States will recognize that the statement is permeated with the earnestness, the sincerity and the constructive idealism which those leading citizens of Mexico, who dropped their personal affairs in response to the call of emergency, have revealed thruout these conferences. We believe these gentlemen, our friends and colleagues on this committee, are thoroly representative of the leadership and purpose of the revolutionary movement, which has endured the strain of civil war and is slowly but surely building a new order of democracy and justice in our sister republic."

The statement of the three Mexican members, which is signed by Dr. Atl, editor of Accion Mundial, of Mexico City; Senor Luis Manuel Rojas, director of the National Library, Mexico City, and Modesto C. Rolland, an engineer from Yucatan with offices in New York City, is in full as follows:

"In the Mexican revolution, the period of convulsion is closing and the labor of reconstruction is hopefully begun.

"Honest men, misled by much that has appeared in the press, have doubted the ability of the Mexican people to reorganize itself. Here are some concrete cases that demonstrate the potent virility of our people which is today proceeding resolutely to the conquest of a well-being to which it has a right.

"The Real Mexico"

"When the First Chief had time, in Vera Cruz, to begin the reorganization of his government, even in the midst of battles, his first decree was one returning to the Indians the communal lands of which they had been dispossessed. In the various states agrarian laws are now establishing small land owners. Wherever necessary land is condemned and purchased at its just value. Properties are being revalued and equitable taxes levied which will, in the future, prevent the formation of great holdings. Laws of this character are already in operation in the states of Yucatan, Guanajuanto, Sonora, Vera Cruz, Jalisco, Michoacan, Colima, Zacatecas, Sinaloa, Queretaro, Puebla, Hidalgo and the territory of Tepic.

"Municipal administration had been abolished by the Dictators so that most of the communities lost all political and economic importance. One of the first steps of the revolution was the restoration of the free municipality. In nearly all the states laws have now been passed reestablishing the local communities, and a general election for the Councils has been called for the first Sunday of next September.

"Laborers have made many social and economic gains; the larger proportion of the states have passed laws establishing a week of forty-four hours and a day of eight hours, as well as laws regarding accidents, minimum wages, courts of conciliation and of arbitration, by means of which the workers will solve their difficulties. It has been enacted that children shall not work in factories before the age of 16; that women with child may have six weeks leave with full salary, with reinstatement in their position. The right of free association is recognized as inalienable.

"The law of divorce has been put in operation and has produced a revolution in the public consciousness; in two years it has transformed the social condition of thousands of women who suffered from the Moorish slavery establishd by the Spaniards. In the very last month that the revolution occupied the capitol more than 500 petitions for divorce from all social classes were presented.

"The revolutionary government has suppressed in many states the sale of alcoholic drinks. In a very short time the good results of this measure have become evident.

"In the whole of the republic bull fights and cock fights have been supplanted by popular games, such as baseball, pelota, etc.

"In each state there has developed an intense rivalry to see who can organize the greatest number of schools. Those chiefs who are intelligent and instructed press on the schools thru conviction, and those less instructed do it because the idea has been popularized that the school will save the country. The First Chief has sent to this country about 500 teachers to study modern pedagogy and school administration. Today there are in Mexico twenty times as many schools as in the last epoch of General Diaz. These schools were established during the worst periods of the armed conflict. The economic condition of the teachers has been notably improved. The world does not know about all this, because periodicals say nothing when a thousand schools are inaugurated, but if a bandit assaults a train, the press declares that the country is in anarchy.

"The revolution is giving new force to the laws of 1874 establishing the separation of church and state and depriving the Catholic church of its political character and of its capacity to acquire land and property, leaving, however, to individuals their inalienable right to teach freely any religious creed.

"Now, that the pacification of the country is almost concluded, the army is being reorganized in order to make its functions compatible with democratic institutions, and to avoid the possibility that it may serve as the instrument of political egroups, as the federal army served all the dictatorships. Eighty per cent of all the public upheavals in Mexico during the past century have been due to military coups. Moreover, there actually exists in Mexico, among civilians and a large proportion of even the military elements, a strong anti-militaristic spirit; it is worthy of notice that the principal chiefs of the revolution consider it a matter of personal satisfaction to be entitled armed citizens and not professional soldiers.

"The Backgrounds of the Revolution And the Sources of Present Discord

"In order to explain the historical crisis thru which Mexico is passing, the incidents which created it ought to be analyzed, for they show that the causes which jeopardized the harmony between Mexico and the United States still exist.

"The Mexican nation has been a vast rich field, exploited by international capital in combination with the governments of Diaz and Huerta and the clerical party, taking advantage of popular ignorance. International capital by the use often of illegal methods, has got control of 73 per cent of our national wealth. All popular efforts to create a just social organization, therefore have always come in conflict with the great international interests backed by armed forces.

The great American interests have obtained possession of 43 per cent of the wealth of Mexico, and they are the most active propagandists of intervention to prevent the triumph of the hopes and plans of the Mexican revolution.

"This conflict between the ambitions of international capital and the rights of the Mexican people constitutes the most powerful cause of disagreement between the two countries.

"Lands—Before the reform laws nine-tenths of the real estate in the republic was in the hands of the clergy.

"The reform laws of President Juarez in 1859 endeavored to divide the land by prohibiting the clergy and every kind of corporation the collective possession of land; but, later, by the help of the dictatorship of Porfirio Diaz, the land was again monopolized and more than two-thirds of the national territory was seized by a small group of privileged persons, native and foreign, and by individuals acting as agents of the clergy, thus evading the intention of the law. These privileged persons obtained their lands at absurd prices in most of the States of the republic, paying for them between 2 and 17 centavos (1-2 cent American gold) per hectare (two and a half acres), or by despoiling the rural population by means of military force imposed by the old Jefes Politicos, or by having recourse to judicial mystification.

"During fifty years every sentence pronounced by the courts in disputes regarding lands was given in favor of the monopolist and never in favor of the small proprietor.

"The revolution is endeavoring to rectify all these injustices.

"The monopoly of great estates left the most fertile lands unproductive. The great owners paid no taxes and the public expense fell only upon the small holders.

"Petroleum—This great resource has been exploited exclusively by English and American companies, especially by the Pierson Company of London, and by the Waters Pierce Oil Company of New York.

"The concessions granted by the administration of Diaz to the Pierson Company paralyzed completely the free exploitation of oil lands, even of those that might have been exploited by their native possessors. The most important of these concessions consisted in according to the Pierson company the right that no other company should be allowed to exploit the land within three kilometers of the place where they had sunk a well. The Pierson Company obtained in addition the exclusive right to use the Federal zones of all the east of the republic, with the promise to deliver to the government 10 per cent of the product that they obtained. The Pierson company took advantage of this to survey and ascertain the oil bearing zones, and secretly to buy the land for a bagatelle from the Indians, thus evading the agreement which it had with the government. At present no petroleum lands belong to Mexico. Foreign capitalists have acquired all the oil bearing lands by deceiving the Indians or by taking advantage of the immorality of local authorities. This national wealth flows silently to other countries without leaving any advantage to the Mexican people. It does not matter that it pays insignificant custom duties. The people are not able to obtain cheap petroleum to provide power for their industries. Irrigation still waits the coming of a cheap combustible. It is absurd that this should occur in the country which is par excellence the producer of the appropriate fuel.

"Mines—The great foreign countries control immense mining regions, and exploit them under an absolutely exclusive regime, paralyzing all other works that do not suit them, but which might be of public utility. Wages have always been so miserable that the laborers have only been able to vegetate.

"Due to the capitalistic criterion that reigned during the dictatorship of Diaz, the old law that permitted the small miner to exploit easily his reduced holdings was replaced by the present law that favors only the great enterprises.

"Waters—Foreigners have obtained for the exclusive benefit falls and sources of water necessary for irrigation and the production of energy; and in many cases these have not been used, in spite of their necessity to the rural population.

"Finance—The bankers have carried on operations proper to usurers. They have speculated in lands, timber and every kind of privilege. The health of Porfirio Diaz had a profound influence on the markets. Mexican finances functioned on a basis of spoilation, and threatened to collapse with the fall of the dictator.

"Railroads—All the construction of railways in the republic has been covered by concessions for a term of ninety-nine years and with heavy subventions. The Mexican nation has expended more than 200,000,000 pesos in those constructions; and, afterwards, thanks to the skillful combinations carried out to consolidate the railways, the investment was overcapitalized, and the government was compelled to guarantee the security of an enormous debt, which places Mexico today in a position to lose its whole investment and to leave the railroads in the hands of capitalists, who impose the tariffs that please them.

"Carranza—The Man and His Task.

"In this great reconstructive movement, Carranza represents the largest effort toward the realization of popular ideals and toward the practical solution of the problem of Mexico.

"The action of Carranza against the dictatorship of General Huerta was legal and in accordance with the provisions of Article 29 of the Mexican Constitution of 1857.

"Carranza has succeeded during revolutionary period, in unifying the popular confidence in his personality, and has slowly become the effective center of national efforts.

"The American people naturally desire that the Mexican social reconstruction shall complete itself rapidly. But it should not escape their comprehension that the solution of the complicated problems of Mexico cannot be attained thru simple desire, nor from the outside. The phenomena manifested in Mexico are in obedience to social laws whose action cannot be hurried."

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MURRAYVILLE PICNIC

AFFAIR IS HELD IN THE PUBLIC PARK

Serve Three Hundred Gallons of Soup and Two Hundred Pounds of Fish—Hold Athletic Events, Driving Contests and a Baseball Game.

Despite extreme heat and dusty roads there was a large crowd in attendance at the nineteenth annual fish fry and burgoo of the Ladies Aid Society of Murrayville M. E. church. The affair was held in the public park at Murrayville and there also were athletic events, driving contests and a baseball game.

Three hundred gallons of soup were made and served while 200 pounds of fish were fried. In addition gallons of ice cream were served as well as countless bottles of soft drinks of various kinds.

Among the features of the day was the prize for the automobile coming the longest distance to the picnic. This prize was won by L. W. Hosteter of Rock Island who traveled a distance of 185 miles to be present. Mr. Hosteter formerly was a pastor of Murrayville church and brought his family in a Ford.

The success of the event was largely due to the work of the various committees which not only worked faithfully in preparation but also worked hard during the day to wait on the throngs in attendance. The general chairman of the day was Rev. C. S. McCollom who was assisted by the following committees:

General arrangements — J. W. Fanning, J. T. Warcup.

Athletics and Driving—W. B. Wright, W. T. Cook.

Assistants in cooking fish—George Stansfield, Wiley Gunn.

Drinking water — Wiley Gunn, Samuel Jones.

The Program

The program began at 10:30 o'clock with a concert in the pagoda by the Roodhouse concert band. At 11 o'clock there was a flag drill by twenty girls. After dinner the following program was carried out.

Prayer—Rev. C. S. McCollom

Rev. McCollom followed the prayer with a brief address in which he welcomed the visitors to the burgoo in behalf of the Ladies Aid society. This address was followed by recitations by Clarence Spencer, Francis Hidden, Lou Emma Wright, Carl Blakeman, Vivian Carlson and Velda Millard. Solos were given by Alice Rimbey and Beulah Ketner and readings by Clamanza Topliff and Jane Wright.

The program was interspersed with music by the band and as an added feature Capt John E. Wright and William S. Lurton sang solos. Both were received with enthusiasm. Rev. McCollom who was chairman also called on Hugh Green of Jacksonville. Mr. Green responded with a few appropriate remarks and recited a poem in which he used the name of Murrayville. He received generous applause at the close. The main feature of the afternoon program was the address of Carl E. Robinson of this city. Mr. Robinson spoke as follows:

The Common People

"There is a benefit from gatherings of this kind and I am sure that there is advantage for all of us in turning away from the ordinary cares of life and gathering socially. Life on the farms, in the towns and in the cities is very much the same in this regard and we all of us are benefited by getting out of the routine of existence occasionally. Long years ago it was Lincoln who said, "God must have loved the common people, he made so many of them." It was one of those truths stated in a remarkably forceful way, in accord with a habit the great emancipator had. The great majority of us are just common people and we can find a great deal of satisfaction in that condition because we all recognize that it is just the plain common people who make up the real strength of this and any other great commonwealth.

The Value of Character.

"The longer we live the clearer it becomes to us that character is about all there is in this world which has real value. Education and religious advancement of the people are greatly to be desired. Advance legislation and reforms have their place but none of these advances have any real value unless at the same time there is development of individuals and strength and stability is added to personal character. The advance thought in recognizing the value of the common people is nowhere better seen than in the laws, which have been passed for the protection of human life. There has been enactment after enactment purposing to provide greater safety for the worker and to give him protection if accident does befall. And along with these laws for the protection of life have been other laws seeking to combat disease and to make men less likely to encounter suffering or illness.

The Great American Home.

"When we think of great American institutions we must not forget the home, for around it centers all that is best in life today. Henry W. Grady, whose matchless eloquence has thrilled thousands upon thousands of his countrymen, once told of his business visit to the national capital. There he looked upon stately buildings and was impressed with the majesty and beauty of their architecture. Then a few days later he went to visit a friends in the country nearby. The friends was a man in modest circumstances, yet with the average comforts of life about him. His children were at play upon the lawn. A good wife joined the husband in extending welcome to that home. On the table in the living room the old family Bible was conspicuous, and the very air of that home breathed of Christianity culture and stable character.

"As Mr. Grady sat there the grandeur of the capital faded and said he, 'Here, indeed, is the strength of the nation—the great American home.' I am glad today that a community like Morgan county is nothing more than a group of these homes which forms the basis of our national life and character."

The contests in the pagoda resulted as follows:

Prettiest baby girl under one year—Helen Bernice Stone.

Prettiest girl baby between one and two years—Gwendolyn Patterson.

Prettiest boy baby between one and two years—Clyde Phillips.

Best lady whistler—Mary Black, first; Mrs Tucker, second..

Best looking married lady—Mrs. McCollom.

Prettiest girl under 21 years—Thelma Dunniway.

Baseball Game

The baseball game between Jacksonville and Murrayville attracted a large crowd. It was an exciting game filled with hard hitting by both teams. By a great batting rally in the ninth Murrayville put over four runs and won the game by a score of 9 to 8. Jacksonville led by three runs in the ninth and at one time the score was 6 to 1 in Jacksonville's favor.

Murrayville started the game with Ira Fanning on the mound. Jacksonville gathered four rnus off of his offerings and Clyde Fanning took up the burden. He got overheated and retired in the sixth in favor of John Wright who finished the game.

The hitting of John Wright, DeFrates, Denny and Christopher featured the game which otherwise was loosely played. The score as much as we could get out of the score book follows:

Only $1 Puts This New Hoosier In Your Home on the Famous Hoosier Plan

Prices Will Advance When this Allotment Is Gone.

Before the coming prices take effect, you may choose between the new "Hoosier Wonder" pictured here or one of the other celebrated Hoosiers—"Hoosier Beauty," "Hoosier Special" or "Hoosier De Luxe."

Hinged Door "Hoosier Wonder," Advertised in leading Magazines

The terms of this Hoosier Plan in our store are these:

1. $1 puts the cabinet you choose in your home.
2. $1 weekly quickly pays for it.
3. The low Cash Price fixed by the factory prevails strictly.
4. No interest. No extra fees.
5. This sale is conducted under the direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.

Only by grasping this opportunity at once can you be sure of getting your cabinet on the Hoosier Plan—and at the present low prices.

You realize of course that these terms could not be offered except on a very limited number of cabinets.

WHY PRICES MUST BE INCREASED.

50,000 cabinets—the entire spring output of the Hoosier factory—were sold in six weeks after they announced their new models. In some cities women have been unable for several months to get this most popular style.

Now the factory has made up 20,000 more for July and August sales. The next lot, after these are gone, must be sold at higher prices. This is due to the increased cost of all raw material entering into their manufacture.

OUR SALE MAY CLOSE ANY DAY

If all the women who need the Hoosier should come for it tomorrow, our full allottment of Hoosier Cabinets would be taken before night and the sale would close. This happened in some towns during a similar sale two years ago. Yet, if women delay, the sale may last a week or more. But which now is best for you—to take chances and miss this opportunity, or come to our store tomorrow so you can find out about this cabinet and decide before too late?

SPRINGFIELD YOUNG WOMAN KNOWN HERE DIES

Miss Pendergast Overcome by Heat When Attending Funeral of Victims of Jacksonville Auto Acident.

Another death directly attributable to the automobile accident which happened in this city Sunday, July 26, occurred in Springfield Wednesday, when Miss Kathryn R. Pendergast died. The young lady attended the funeral of Mrs. Adolph Bernard and son and Miss Margaret Allen and was stricken with the heat at that time. After attending the services at the church she accompanied the cortege to the cemetery and shortly afterward drank freely of very cold water. She was taken ill very soon afterward and collapsed when she reached her home and was removed to St. John's hospital. Her condition did not improve and her death resulted there Wednesday.

THE MAN FROM THE COUNTRY.

I. S. DUNN
Editor Divernon News.
Republican Candidate for Member House of Representatives.

(From the Divernon News.)

Mr. Dunn has been a resident of Divernon for 12 years, having come here from Waverly, Morgan county, where he was a shareholder in the Waverly Journal. During his residence in Divernon he has owned and published the Divernon News, and built his plant up from a small and insignificant one to one of the best country printing plants in Sangamon county, and his paper is a recognized power. His abilities led his fellow craftsmen to choose him as president of the Central Illinois Rural Press Association.

In politics he is first a republican and will, if elected labor to secure legislation pledged by the party platform; he is a dry republican, will vote as he always has done—far any measure calculated to put a stop to, or curtail the liquor traffic. If you vote for him you vote knowing what he will do on that question. On other matters he will endeavor to represent the people of this district fairly and squarely. He will be fair to labor.

Mr. Dnun is a member of three fraternal societies, and his attendance record in all has been nearly perfect for 12 years. He is a member of the Presbyterian church and has been teacher of a class of boys for 12 years some of whom have been members of the class all that time, and are now grown to manhood, all filling honorable and responsible positions in business and social life.

Our candidate is familiar with legislature procedure, having been a prominent clerk in a state senate for several years.

If this record pleases you give the Divernon candidate at least one of your votes.

MAN BROKE LAW SO HE WOULD GET SLEEPING PLACE

Strange Case of Crippled Miner Brought to Notice—Is Released From Chester.

An interesting case has just been given publicity wherein it is shown that Philip Veal, a Franklin county coal miner, has been serving a term in Chester penitentiary because he committed a minor offense for the very purpose of causing his arrest. It seems that the man is a cripple and last December, as he was unable to work and dependent upon his relatives, he determined to commit some act which would cause his arrest. So he hurled a brick thru a glass window in a city in Franklin county, and then promptly reported the matter to the police. Subsequently as soon as he had an opportunity he entered a plea of guilty, altho he objected quite strenuously to the word "malicious" being used in connection with the term "malicious mischief", on which he was arraigned. It seems that Veal was to proud to beg, did not like to be dependent upon his relatives and so committed the offense mentioned.

The case came to the attention of the state's attorney of Franklin county and also President Walker of the United Mine Workers, and an investigation resulted in Veal's release.

JACOB FRISCH CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Jacob Frisch of Springfield, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination as representative from Morgan and Sangamon counties was a visitor in Jacksonville Thursday and in the afternoon went to Murrayville to attend the picnic. Mr. Frisch is a brother of Henry Frisch of Myers Bros.' store here. He has spent practically all of his life in Springfield and is the owner of a large drug store there. For two years he was chairman of the Sangamon county board of supervisors and made an excellent record in that important position.

Mr. Frisch made a favorable impression on those whom he met in Jacksonville, and the frequent greeting he received was that if he was as high class a man as his brother Henry that he could safely be counted upon to fill any position of public trust with integrity.

BITTER CAMPAIGN ABOUT TO OPEN IN NEVADA

Primaries are to be Held August 1st —Republicans Hope to Name Successor to Key Pittman.

Reno, Nev., July 27—The Nevada primaries, which are to be held one week from next Tuesday, will be the signal for the real opening of the bitterest political campaign in the history of the Sagebrush State. For months the Republicans have been mustering their forces and other preparing for the great drive that is to have as its chief object the ousting of Key Pittman from the United States senate and the seating of a Republican in his place. Back of the fight is one of the strangest and most fascinating political stories ever conceived.

When Senator George S. Nixon, Republican, partner of George Winfield, millionaire mine owner and banker of Nevada, died in 1912, the then Governor of Nevada, Tasker L. Oddie, offered the toga to Wingfield, who, for some reason known only to himself, refused it. W. A. Massey, of Reno, a former supreme justice of the State, was appointed to fill the vacancy, which, under the law, would be filled at the presidential election in 1912.

Massey became the Republican candidate to succeed himself and Key Pittman, who had been defeated by Senator Nixon in the campaign of 1910, became the Democratic candidate.

There waged a bitter political campaign. Pittman is said to have spent a vast sum of money which he had but a few months before acquired thru the phenomenal rise in Tonopah-Merger stock, of which he held something like 350 000 shares. He purchased a daily newspaper in Tonopah, his home city, acquired another in Ely, and is said to have given financial assistance to others in various parts of the State.

Pittman's publicity was one of the marvels of the campaign. Senator Massey, with limited means, made a personal canvass thruout the state. Behind him were the Wingfield interests, powerful and wealthy, and it was hinted that before the campaign was concluded the money bags would be opened.

Then a strange thing is said to have occurred. Suddenly there appeared in Reno and other parts of Nevada a swarm of Burns' detectives. It was publicly given out that these detectives had been shadowing the Massey politicians and at the first sign of money being spread by any of the interests behind Massey's campaign arrests would follow.

According to general rumor at the time it was Pittman's money that paid for the detectives. When the votes were counted a few days latr Pittman was elected by 89 votes, a narrow majority, but sufficient to put him in the United States senate.

Two years ago when Senator Newlands' term of office expired he was opposed by Sam Pratt of Carson, Republican, former United States district attorney and owner of a Carson newspaper. There ensued another hard fought campaign and when the smoke of battle rolled away Senator Newlands had been returned to office by a bare majority of 40 votes, one-half of Pittman's majority of 89.

The narrow majorities of Pittman and Newlands form but one of the factors upon which are based the Republican hope for success this year. Under the amendment to the constitution adopted in 1914, women have been given the rights of the ballot in Nevada. It is estimated that some 14,000 of them will exercise the privilege next November and the Republicans are claiming the most of their votes. The Democrats refused to recognize this new voting element in naming their delegates to St. Louis, but the Republican named as one of the alternates Mrs. T. F. Moran, wife of a candidate for the State Supreme court.

Some of the most influential interests in Nevada are expected to line up against the Democrats in the coming election. The sheep interests, which are very large, are opposed as usual to the Democratic tariff policy. The same is believed to be true as regards the sugar-beet interests. There is a considerable area in Nevada devoted to the sugar beet, with a large sugar factory on the United States reclamation project at Fallon. The industry was hard hit by the Underwood-Simmons tariff. The factory closed down and many of the farmers dug up their beets. The Republicans are counting on the influence of these interests to aid them materially in winning a victory at the polls next November.
